

Table Talk

Volume 1 Issue 4

Newsletter Date
6th February 2009

Birthdays

Daniel	Barnett
Georgina	Cooper
Melissa	Tildsley
Rosie	Colvin
Lori	Goodman
Chayal	Korn
Samuel	Myers
Eleanor	Mack
Dahlia	Beech
Sophie	Ellenbogen
Millie	Braslavsky
Tamara	Weldon

A Bite of Inspiration

Parashat Beshalach

After the climactic 10th and final plague, the slaying of the First Born, Pharaoh finally agrees to let the Jews leave Egypt.

Pharaoh changes his mind and chases after them. The Jews feel trapped. There is no other outlet but the sea.

The Jews begin to berate Moses: "Why did you have to bring us out here to die in the desert? You should have just left us alone to work for the Egyptians!"

How could the Jews, after 210 years of intolerable suffering in Egypt, complain to Moses for liberating them?!

For the Jews in Egypt, life was comfortable. In slavery, the rations may be meagre and the bed made of straw, but there's an up-side as well: all one's needs are provided, and there are no challenging decisions to be made.

Then Nachshon, steps foot into the sea. The sea still does not split. He continues as the water reaches his ankles, then his knees. By now the water has reached his neck. Yet he continues into the sea. As the water reaches his nostrils, the Red Sea splits. The Jewish People all rush in after him. Finally, freedom. The Red Sea appears in our own lives as well. Often we procrastinate until the best option no longer remains. The door is closed and we comfort ourselves by saying, "Oh well, what could I do, things just didn't work out." Sometimes the answer is just "do it." To jump into the sea.

After Dinner Joke

Excuse me madam, the Captain has invited you to come and dine at his table. Certainly not! I didn't pay all that money for the cruise to end up sitting with the crew.

Steward to seasick passenger: "Do you want me to bring your dinner to the cabin or just throw it over board now?"

שבת
שלום

Side Dish

Business Studies

B-Unique – Recycled & waterproof! Gift bags

King David Students Young Enterprise for 2009 -Portia Dodds

Students in Year 10 at King David High School have been involved in setting up and running their own business known as B-Unique for the Young Enterprise Company Programme-

Last year's team won the regional award for the Chairman's choice for 2007/08.

The B-Unique Company led by Managing Director Portia Dodds researched the market for specialised gift bags. They designed and purchased them to sell. They marketed and distributed the product in school. They are currently gearing up for their annual Trade Fair at the Trafford Centre on Friday 6th February.

Last year was King David's most successful year so far in the Young Enterprise Company Programme; as the team had already scooped the most 'innovative product award' at the Trafford Centre Trade Fair earlier last year.

Miss McLaughlin and Mrs O-Flaherty-Davis have been assisting the students this year.

Let's hope we can repeat that!

www.young-enterprise.org.uk

Celebrating Success

Boys squad beat Abraham Moss 12-2.

30 students visited the Velodrome to watch the National Championships. The school coach Alan Clarkson was playing.

מלכות דוד